There is a new county wide project that is all about Rabbit Royalty, more information in your mailbox. There is a flyer from Independence 4-H about a county wide community service to collect donations to support refugees from Afghanistan that are in our area. National 4-H Week is coming! Each club can do a window display, and there is a cash prize for first, second, and third place. Presentation Day is the first weekend in February. Sara also went over the YAL Center's expectations for COVID safety. There are usually two or three people in the 4-H office, but now there is just one, working three jobs, so please be patient. their animals. They also had the ability to learn how to take out loans and pay them off. Sewing: by Diana Hampton The project will be making different kinds of bags and other cool projects this year.

Old Business: Registration: by Kelly Hinde The registration system has changed. They are calling it Registration 2.0, and Kelly thinks that it is more user friendly. It is still working out some kinks but hopefully they will resolve themselves. The club will pay the leader's registration fees, and leaders must do their online training. All fees will be paid to the club, checks payable to Sequoia 4-H. We would like to get all of this done by November. Fair Experiences: by all attendees The Sonoma Marin Fair had a really cool show. Michael helped Kelly run the rabbit show; he noted how well organized it was. Bailey, Loomis, and Wyatt also showed dairy goats at the Sonoma Marin Fair. Peter and Michael showed their market goats. Liam and Wyatt showed their pigs! Summer Picnic Report: by Michael Sittenauer Our Picnic was at Morton's Warm Springs. We had games and Subway. We also want everyone to be active and present during the meetings. Fashion Review: by Diana Hampton This year there will be a new category including trash-fashion, making clothes out of trash.
